- Conduct surprise inspections in hostels, canteens, classrooms, libraries, toilets, and common areas.
- Maintain a regular presence in sensitive or isolated areas, especially during the initial weeks of a new academic session.
- Monitor junior-senior interactions closely.
- Ensure zero tolerance policy towards ragging is effectively communicated across the campus.
- Disseminate anti-ragging awareness through posters, banners, orientation sessions, and seminars.
- Educate students about the legal consequences of ragging as per the UGC and university guidelines.
- Take immediate action on receiving any complaints or signs of ragging.
- Rescue the victim and isolate the accused students if required.
- Inform higher authorities like the Anti-Ragging Committee or college principal immediately.
- Provide a confidential and accessible channel for students to report ragging (e.g., complaint boxes, helpline numbers, or online portals).
- Assist the Anti-Ragging Committee in investigating complaints and preparing reports.
- Follow a duty roster for regular patrolling—especially during vulnerable times like late evenings or early mornings.
- Patrols should be carried out without notice to maintain effectiveness.
- Maintain a logbook of patrols, inspections, and any suspicious activity.
- Submit regular reports to the principal/anti-ragging committee regarding activities and findings.
- Ensure that newcomers feel safe and confident to approach the squad.
